

Quarry Tile Shade Range

The Ruabon palette of seven natural earthtone shades shown here is achieved by meticulous control of firing conditions in a computer-controlled tunnel kiln, which is over 100 metres long.

Several shades may be used together, either to complement each other or to provide contrast. Use of colour-defined fittings enables the designer to satisfy partially sighted requirements, particularly in public buildings.

For specifiers, samples can be obtained by using the samples request system in the Technical Specifications section of this site.
